

Collective SML | k
Invites you to an open studio and gathering on
Friday, July 14, 2017
7:30 – 9:30pm
430 Santa Fe Dr, Denver, CO 80204

With Seoul-based media artist
Sangmin Jade Lee

“Throughout my work process, I attempt to establish representational works by using various digital-based media. I also want to address the recurrent human activities and historical events in contingent and spontaneous ways. Then state the physical aspects of life encapsulated in a formal system, which can be human, mechanical, or natural. These aspects are translated in to new space, which allows two, three dimensions or even multi-dimensions, and experiment the experimental and scientific relation of various systems...”

-Sangmin Jade Lee, from her artist statement

Light refreshment and snacks will be provided

Free event. RSVP to program coordinator, Sammy Lee at sammy@studiosmlk.com
There are street parking spaces on Santa Fe Dr. or on 4th Street.

Collective SML | k is a new artist run residency and curatorial project space located in Santa Fe Art District of Denver, Colorado. Its mission is to foster contemporary Asian art and culture in the Denver area, supporting creative practices that address underrepresented issues, narratives, and techniques.
